A GIFT FROM THE STARS.
By ERROLD DRAKE.

A LONG time ago, when the stars ruled on high,
A great many wonders were seen in the sky.
There were tables of blue, there were couches of gold,
And shelves of deep crimson, and colours untold;
There were floors black and shining, and walls white as snow,
And many more things that I really don't know.
Now said Venus to Saturn, said Saturn to Mars,
"I really do think we are greedy old stars;
For we have a secret that no one does know:
Let us share with the mortals who live down below!"
So they took the great secret, tacked it on to a spear,
Tied up in a thing that we call an "idea;"
Then dropped it right down on the top of a man,
Who, despairing, was painting a hot-water can.
The spear it struck home, the idea was unfurled,
And now the great wonder is known to the world:
Is carried by train, is carried by boat;
Is known to all people, on land or afloat;
Is carried by horse, is carried by camel;
And this is its name—"ASPINALL'S ENAMEL!"

OUR LONDON LETTER.

BILL OF FARE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

March 18.

You will have no room for letters. This is a great paste and scissors day. I have sent you a pile of financial news about the Bank of England and the Baring estate; the market for Argentine and Uruguay securities; the failure of Murrietas; the failure of the St. Petersburgh banker Gunsberg, and something about the English Bank of the River Plate; but all that is nothing compared with the banquet of horrors you will find under this envelope. I promise you that, however you may serve the materials, they will require no seasoning. Firstly there is the death of Montonero, the lion-tamer, who, in a travelling menagerie in a little town in Wales, was devoured by three bears and a hyena. The beasts took fifteen minutes to do it, whilst the crowd of sightseers screamed with terror and the attendants made ineffectual efforts to release the poor nigger; for nigger he was. It is curious that, had the man entered the den as usual, probably nothing would have occurred. Unhappily, he stumbled. This was a novelty, an innovation, a reform, something the bestial mind, which is before all things conservative, was unaccustomed to. The hyena sprang upon him and pitched him over to the bears, that demolished him in the space of time above mentioned.

Then there is the execution of the poachers Rayner and Eggleton, in spite of the pathetic appeals of Mr. Conybeare and others in and out of the House of Commons for their reprieve. The Home Secretary was obdurate. He objects to murderers in general and especially to the murderers of the guardians of birds sacred to his party and to the gentlemen of England. The poor fellows met their death grandly. After they dropped, there was barely a tremble in the ropes. The executioner was Billington, who has succeeded Mr. Berry—I think that is the gentleman's name—who, objecting to magisterial interference with his professional duties, lately sent in his resignation to the Home Secretary, whom he addressed "Dear Sir." Mr. B. had other fish to fry; and has already commenced lecturing at the Aquarium on Capital Punishment, to which he is opposed. He is engaged for a good round sum to deliver a course of lectures on the same subject in the United States.

At Vienna they have strangled that wretch Schneider, the slayer of maid-servants. The mode of execution there does not seem to be so successful as Billington's plain noose and drop. The Viennese plan seems to be a kind of garrotting. We are told "Seyfried the executioner, a respectably dressed man in black, with a tall hat and brown gloves, jumped to the top of the steps behind the assassin, and whipping a white silken loop out of his pocket passed it over the top of the spike and under the condemned man's throat, finally compressing his face, and with his left hand over the jaw and mouth, and his right over the forehead and eyes, he squeezed vigorously. Gradually the face of the assassin lost its natural colour, and through the fingers of the executioner one saw the ashy hue of death stealing over the features."

The doctor said he was dead in four minutes. No wonder; for whilst all this was going on, we are further told that "one of the assistants hung on to the hands of the culprit and another kneeling down seized his legs." It does n't sound nice. Besides, four minutes is an unconscionable time to take to kill a fellow in these days of controllable natural forces.

Of course, the grand sensation which during the week has gradually grown from a par to a column, and finally to whole sides of British, Australian and American newspapers, is what they variously call the "Rainhill Mystery" the "Liverpool Mystery" and the "Melbourne Mystery." It came from Melbourne where the man Williams, the criminal implicated, is alleged to have murdered his wife (a Miss Mather) he took out there from Rainhill near Liverpool in August last. He is now in custody on his way to Melbourne from Western Australia. He formerly lived at Dinham Villa at Rainhill. The police have just pickaxed the lately cemented floors of that residence, and, almost poisoned by the stench, have gradually laid bare the decomposed remains of a woman and two or three children. I will not spoil your interest in the tale by attempting to give the harrowing details. You will enjoy reading them for yourselves. The whole career of the man Williams or Deeming, Swanson, Lawson or whatever was his real name, is succinctly given in the Daily News. So far the murder of nine persons—women and children have been traced to his hand. The fiendishness of the man and even his appearance are so like the traditional notions of Jack the Ripper that there was a growing opinion that he must be the Whitechapel murderer until it was pointed out that from what we know of Williams's career he could not have been in England at the time of the East End horrors. Williams is described as a dark, foreign looking man, wearing a soft black hat and sometimes in a grotesque uniform which he said was that of an Indian regiment. He was much bedizened with rings and jewelry and had address enough to captivate the magnates of Rainhill Villadom, and of course he was the very thing to win the hearts or the fancies of his female victims. It would seem, from what we are told, that he hails from no more romantic a place than Birkenhead, where his brother, a tradesman, now lives. Williams appears to have been at Montevideo in 1889 where he went as steward in some sailing vessel. In his travels in Australia and other places he has acquired his foreign look and manner. You will hear a great deal more about him as soon as his trial takes place in Melbourne, where at this moment, he and the discoveries at Rainhill are absorbing public interest.

THE MELBOURNE-RAINHILL MYSTERY.

WILLIAMS CHARGED WITH NINE MURDERS.

A horrible discovery has been made at Rainhill, in the Villa where it is alleged that the man Williams lived, who is now in custody in Australia, charged with the murder of his wife (formerly a Miss Mather, of Rainhill) near Liverpool, who disappeared mysteriously when living with him near Melbourne. The bodies of a woman and no fewer than four children have been found embedded in the cement beneath the kitchen floor. The bodies of the children were examined, and it was seen on removing the cloths fastened about their heads that their little throats had been cut from ear to ear. All the children were evidently well cared for by their mother. The eldest child, who was about eleven years of age, was the most decomposed form of the lot. The faces of all were recognizable enough, and they seemed to have been chubby, well-developed children.

The appearance of the mysterious mother, who was only seen once or twice at Rainhill during her brief and dismal sojourn, was that of a well-dressed lady. She was attired in a blue or faded pink dressing-gown, and all her under-garments bespoke an aristocratic taste, being highly embroidered and gimped. Her stays were of the black French pattern. She had a wedding ring and gold keeper. These shone out brightly from her withered fingers. The ages of the youngsters ranged from about nine years to eighteen months.

The murders are believed to have taken place during the night of Sunday, the 1st of August last. The plasterers were called in a day or two after that date.

When the first one went to the house he noticed three barrels full of cement and one empty. The flags which covered the bodies had been put down in the kitchen before he was called in, so that he could see what had been done with the contents of the first barrel.

The gardener living next door to Dinham Villa says he saw the woman whom he recognizes as the deceased in the yard of the villa on the Sunday after August Bank Holiday. On the Monday he heard the screams of children proceeding from the villa, and he never saw either the woman or the children after.

Further startling disclosures were made yesterday in connection with the Rainhill murders. The corpse of the woman found was identified as that of Mrs. Deeming, of Birkenhead. She was the wife of Williams, whose real name was Deeming, and had been in Australia with him. The four children were those of the couple. The bodies were yesterday identified by brothers of the criminal, Mr Albert and Mr. Walter Deeming, who appear to have explained that their brother was a civil engineer, and of a roving disposition. The murdered woman was, prior to her marriage in 1881, a Miss Jones, the daughter of a Flintshire farmer. A sister, it seems, was married to Mr. Albert Deeming. In July last the murdered woman and her children visited Rainhill for the purpose of joining her husband at Dinham Villa. It has been practically established that the murders were committed on a Sunday, the 2nd of August. There is a theory, as yet very vague, that Williams had an accomplice in the crime. Williams, it seems, was arrested in Australia on the charge of murdering his wife (né Miss Mather, of Rainhill) at Melbourne, just as he was on the point of marriage with another lady. After his marriage with Miss Mather, Williams took her to his villa, and he was heard shouting and singing, and evidently dancing about on the top of his victims' graves. The presents which Miss Mather received, some of which were valuable, mysteriously disappeared and were never found. It is believed that Williams stole and sold then.

The Melbourne police, says a telegram to the Times, have traced Williams's career for a number of years past, and it is alleged that he has been concerned in a variety of swindling transactions in Sydney, Melbourne, Cape Town, and England. The police state that he passed under the aliases of Deeming, Swanson, and Lawson. Under the last name he was married to a Miss Matheson at Beverley, Yorkshire, in 1890. This lady he suddenly deserted. All attempts to trace the whereabouts of his reputed wife and two children, who mysteriously disappeared in Sydney, have proved fruitless, despite the exhaustive inquiries instituted by the police.

From what has transpired it is believed that the Rainhill and Melbourne murderer is the same man who married and cruelly deserted a young lady named Matheson at Beverley two years ago. He took lodgings in 1890 with Mrs. Matheson, and gave the name of Harry Lawson, and represented himself to be a large farmer in Australia. He made presents of jewellery to Miss Matheson, and ultimately induced her to marry him. the wedding taking place at St. Mary's Church, Beverley. After a short honeymoon, during which time they made the Station Hotel, Hull, their head-quarters, he deserted his wife and she returned to her home at Beverley. He absconded to Montevideo and a warrant was obtained for his apprehension by Mr. Reynolds, a Hull jeweller, from whom he had obtained the presents made to his wife. He was brought back to Hull where he was tried at the assizes in October, 1890, and was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. On his release he would have been apprehended for bigamy, it having been ascertained that the lady whom he had married at Birkenhead in 1880 was still living, but this prosecution was abandoned. The last heard of him at Beverley was that he had left the country.

In February, 1881, Deeming married the deceased woman at Tranmere. Shortly after the wedding he went to Melbourne, stating that he would send for his wife. He did so, and nothing further was heard of them until the month of April last, when they returned with four children. Mrs. Deeming afterwards left to go to Dinham Villa to join her husband, stating to her sister and brother in law that they intended to stay in Rainhill. Nothing further was heard of her or her family until the present discovery. Mrs. Albert Deeming heard some time ago that Deeming had married Miss Mather, but was under the impression that he had taken his own wife and family abroad and had deserted them. About eighteen months ago, Deeming, while living at Birkenhead, represented that he was about to return to the Cape to resume his mining operations. It has, however, been since ascertained that he went to Beverley, where he made the acquaintance of a young woman named Matheson, whom he married. While living at Hull he forged a cheque for £180. For this he was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. Upon his liberation the young lady declined to leave Hull with him.

Deeming then went back to his wife at Birkenhead. He told his wife of the Beverley marriage, and asked her, in case any inquiries were made, to deny that she was his wife; but the poor woman, although anxious to screen him, refused to deny that he was her husband. The murdered woman was aware that her husband had taken Dinham Villa, though he retained his residence at Birkenhead. Sometimes his wife and children went to stay with him at Rainhill, and on other occasions Deeming visited his wife at Birkenhead. This explains his frequent absences from Rainhill, which he pretended were occasioned by visits to London, and there is no doubt that the woman and children who visited him at Rainhill, whose identity he was so anxious to conceal, and who, he said, were his sister and her family, were his own wife and children. These visits seemed to have suggested the motive for the murder. The gossips of the village had become inquisitive as to the antecedents of the mysterious stranger and his equally mysterious lady visitors. At this time Deeming, alias Williams, was paying his addresses to Miss Mather, and the arrival of his wife, with her four children, no doubt, interfered with his plans. Hence the murder of the wife and children which followed. Mrs. Deeming appears, from what she stated to her friend, to have been somewhat disturbed about what she called her husband's "carrying on." Mrs. Deeming appears to have made up her mind to bring matters to a crisis, and no doubt her action at this time led to the horrible murder of herself and little ones. She sent word to her lady friend in Liverpool, of whom we have already spoken, that she wished to have an interview with her with reference to her husband. They met in Liverpool. Mrs. Deeming, being unable to write, got a lady friend to write a telegram addressed to "Deeming, Dinham Villa, Rainhill." After a conversation with her friend, Mrs. Deeming left her, saying she was going to see her husband at the villa at Rainhill. After that Mrs. Deeming was never again seen by her lady friend. The latter, becoming anxious about Mrs. Deeming, not hearing from her, although she promised to communicate with her, made inquiries. She had, however, forgotten the name of the villa at Rainhill, but still she was determined if possible to find her missing friend. The lady and her mother one day went to Rainhill, and walking along the road in which Dinham-villa is situated she at once, by the description that Mrs. Deeming had given her, identified the house. She obtained admission to the premises, and upon examination found the house completely empty, and the floor near the fireplace cemented and streaks of cement in other parts of the room. This, however, did not seem to arouse Mrs. Deeming's friend's suspicion, and she thought nothing more of the matter until she read in the Liverpool Courier of Tuesday the first intimation of the conduct of "Williams" at Rainhill and the horrible suspicions that had been excited. She then came at once to the conclusion that the people murdered were her friend Mrs. Deeming and her children.

That the murders were premeditated is shown by the terms of the lease upon which Deeming took Dinham Villa. One clause in the document was as follows:—The said Arthur Owen Williams agrees, on behalf of Mr. Baron Brooks, to cover the whole of the stone floors with one and a half inches of fine cement within the time of a month after taking the villa." The plasterer who was engaged by Williams to assist in levelling the cement in the kitchen, covering the bodies of his victims, says that Williams laid the cement himself, remarking that he wanted the exercise and that he was commissioned to put the floors and everything in order because the old gentleman who had taken the place had some valuable carpets and the cracks between the flags would cut them. When they had laid the cement on both floors Williams asked him to "skim and level it for him nicely.

Working for a few minutes at a time and with cloths round their heads, the policemen continued their pickaxe work at Dinham Villa, Rainhill, yesterday. Nothing whatever was found. The inquest will be opened to-day at one o'clock. The bodies are all in an advanced stage of decomposition.

It is believed the mother was despatched first and the children afterwards. It is supposed that the woman was struck on the head while going to bed on the Saturday night or Sunday morning, and that the children were murdered on the following day.

The funeral of the victims at Rainhill yesterday brought together a large crowd. The relatives of the deceased arrived early at Dinham Villa, and Mrs. Walter Deeming brought a heart-shaped floral wreath, which she placed on the coffin of the murdered woman. The funeral was left to the parish, the coffins being conveyed in the workhouse hearse to the graveyard of Rainhill Parish Church, within a hundred yards of the Commercial Hotel and of Mrs. Mather's house. The coffin of the woman had a black plate, inscribed "Marie Deeming, aged thirty-eight years."

Yesterday afternoon a telegram was received by the Hull police from the Liverpool police, identifying the portrait of Lawson as that of Williams during his incarceration in Hull Gaol. So determined and resourceful a prisoner did Williams seem that the Governor refused to allow him to work in the open air. More than this, his cell was repeatedly changed, and he was closely watched. He stated that he had travelled all over the world, and spoke of being in the Australian bush, in South America, and in the diamond fields in South Africa. Before he left Hull Williams had a photograph taken of himself in full masonic costume.

Descriptions of the murdered woman whose body was found at Rainhill have been cabled to Melbourne, and have excited extraordinary interest, as they agree with that of the woman who was known at Sydney as Deeming's wife.

Deeming worked as a plumber, and while resident at Sydney was sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment for theft. This occurred in 1882 Subsequently he set up a shop of his own and lived upon a most extravagant scale, a course which resulted in a fraudulent bankrupcy in 1885. Having been liberated on bail, Deeming absconded, taking his family with him. The general belief is that they went to South Africa. The keeper of a public-house in Sydney, who was intimately acquainted with Deeming while he was resident there, states that he last saw him in January, 1892, and in reply to inquiries as to his wife and family he gave him to understand that they had all died at Johannesburg.

It has also come to light that after the murder at Windsor Deeming actually applied to a matrimonial agency in this city with the object of procuring another victim, but his quest in this instance proved fruitless. He afterwards went to Sydney, and there proposed to and was accepted by a girl named Kate Rounsevell, who resides at Bathurst. He gave her several rings, which are believed to have belonged to his murdered wife, and Miss Rounsevell was actually on her way to Perth to marry him at the moment that he was arrested.

Deeming was brought to York yesterday (says a Perth telegram) in custody. A large crowd gathered as soon as it was known that the accused man had arrived. Williams addressed the people assembled, saying, "Don't look at me. I am not guilty."

The following account of the banquet given at Rainhill by Deeming appeared in the Preston Reporter at the time the invitations for it were issued by the ill-fated Miss Mather:—

On Wednesday evening Mr. Albert O. Williams, an inspector of the Indian Army Service, who is on a short visit to England and who has taken up his residence in Rainhill while in this country, entertained at the Railway and Commercial Hotel, Rainhill, a number of the residents of the village whose friendship he has made during his sojourn among them. The menu was of an excellent character. After full justice had been done to the good things provided, Mr. Williams presided, and Mr Short occupied the vice-chair. The usual loyal and patriotic toasts having been submitted and responded to, one of the guests, in a felicitous speech, proposed "The health of their host, Mr. Williams." He said that whilst that gentleman had been with them in Rainhill he had made many friendships, which he sincerely hoped, now that he was going away again to foreign service, would tend for many hours when ennui set in to bring back to his mind the many pleasant and social evenings he had spent with them in Rainhill. The toast was enthusiastically drunk with musical honours. Mr. Williams, in reply, thanked his guests for the hearty and kind way in which they had received his name. He had been in many climes and countries, and had mixed with many nations, but he must say he had never in his life met a more sociable number of friends than he had done in Rainhill. During the evening musical selections were given by the host (Mr. Williams) and others. The party broke up at eleven o'clock, a happy evening having been spent.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

At last we have some news from Corrientes in regard to the revolutionary movement headed by Blanco, whose high-toned manifesto we published in a recent issue. It appears that Blanco was not wounded in his preliminary fray with the Government forces. A local exchange perpetrates a horrible pun and states that the bullet aimed at him "no dio en el blanco." Not only is the revolutionist leader safe and sound but his forces are daily swelling, as there appear to be a good many people who are anxious, as the manifesto has it, "to live honorably." The local Governor has in the meantime called out the National Guard in Libres, La Cruz, Alvear and Santo Tome and is trying to make the Correntinos believe that Blanco's men are Brazilian soldiers. Things are very unsettled in Corrientes. Business has dwindled away in view of the general insecurity, but the local papers are making fortunes, as everyone buys to read the latest news.

Our Rosario exchanges state that the Socialists there are preparing to fete the first of May, but that the authorities, in view of the state of siege, will prohibit any outdoor display. The authorities have an idea that the Socialists are Radicals. So they are. They are social Radicals. It is a queer thing to see these social Rads. springing up in a free, enlightened and highly democratic city like Rosario.

The Rosario Centro Comercial has appointed a committee to join the official committee to inspect the Martin Garcia channel, which is the pulse of Rosario. The Rosarinos have been fighting a long time to get the National Government to dredge the channel, and now, of course, they want to see that the thing is done properly. The Government does everything properly; so that the Rosarinos need have no misgiving.

The Santa Fe Government have decided to forward specimens of grain to the Grain Exhibition in London, to shew Londoners what nature and labor can do out here. At the same time they might send copies of the numerous protests against the infamous grain-tax, to shew our London friends what Governments and hardupness can do out here.

There seems to be a good deal of activity in Rosario shipping circles. We note that the North American steamer Tolon is loading 1,250 bales of wool and 10,000 hides for the United States. The Italian barque Casablanca is loading 15,000 bags of wheat for Falmouth. A Norwegian barque is loading 13,000 bags for the same destination, and the Ponemac sailed a few days ago with 20,000 bags for the same port. The steamer Dante is to carry 5,000 bags of maize for Europe, and a Norwegian barque is loading 15,000 bags of wheat for some port in the old world. Prices in the wheat market are firm.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

The first of a series of eight orchestral concerts, which are being given by Sr. Galvani, under the patronage of "El Mundo del Arte," was inaugurated on Monday evening last at the Politeama, and proved, on the whole, to be quite as interesting and attractive as any of the functions of a similar kind which have been given in this city for some considerable time.

The excellence of the orchestra was fully demonstrated in the prelude to the 1st act of Lohengrin.

The importance of instrumentalists (also Choral Societies and Deutsche Sing Akademie) working constantly together in order to achieve entire unity and completeness of ensemble, has often been discussed, and I am bound to admit that under Sr. Galvani's direction it would be difficult, at least in Buenos Ayres, to offer a finer example of ensemble playing than that which the orchestra achieved in Saint-Saens' "Danse Macabre" which received a well merited encore.

The orchestra reached the acme of perfection in the Tanhauser Sinfonia, Wagner, the contrast between the two divisions of the orchestra, strings and wind, being here depicted with a delicacy of intonation that I have but rarely heard surpassed, a perfect balance of tone between the strings and wind, brass, being maintained, a difficult feat in Wagner's intricately orchestrated works.

A pleasing Gavotte by Sr. Aromatari received an encore, tho' possibly this was given more as a compliment to the composer, who was amongst the audience, and of whose presence an admiring circle of friends were evidently aware, than as a tribute to the merit of the work.

The Vocal portion of the concert was sustained by Sr. Barrera, who sang Schumann's "Non t'odio no," better known to the English portion of the audience as "I murmur not," for which performance he received hearty applause and an encore.

The audience was certainly not so large as I expected, but made up in enthusiasm what was lacking in numbers.

A good programme is offered for the next concert, and those who love good music, well rendered, I strongly advise to attend.

GRAND NATIONAL TRAMWAY CO.

The Grand National Tramway Company advertises that it will shortly recommence working.

Mr. Philip Knee, the representative of the Company in this country, has remained here throughout the disasters to his Company, but was fortunately able, by tact and suavity, to obtain the consent of the Municipality to cease working for some months without endangering the rights of his Company's valuable concession.

Mr. Knee speaks highly of the courteous consideration he has received from the Lord Mayor and the Municipal Body, who have not only reduced the tax hitherto collected from his Company on its earnings from 8 % to 6 %, but have given him permission to increase his fares from 8 cents to 10 cents, which he intends to authorise being collected.

We hear that Mr. Knee will withdraw from an active interest in the administration, on this side of the world, and contemplates returning to England at an early date.

WHAT SCIENCE HAS DONE.

The Royal Geographical Society of England, at a meeting held in the month of January, 1891, estimated the world's inhabitants at 1,487,600,000, about 31 persons to each square mile of available land area. That is to say, to support the world's present population in the savage condition would require the superficial area of the planet Saturn. From this authoritative estimate we reach the momentous conclusion that, notwithstanding the immense regions still overrun by savagery, the population of our globe is already 620-fold what would be possible at a grade of civilization no lower than that of the American Indian. It further appears that the reduction to savage condition of a civilized community of 30,000 persons would imply the sweeping out of existence of all save a single family of five individuals.

"But mere increase of population would be of little benefit were it not the token of a gradual amelioration and correlative prolongation of life itself. Of this amelioration and prolongation the statistics in every civilised country bear witness. Thus the average annual death rate in New York city, which, for the decade ending A.D. 1860 was reported at 33 per 1,000, had, in the semi-decade ending 1865, dropped to 31, and to 25 in the semi-decade ending 1890. This improvement of 6 per 1,000 in twenty-five years represents a saving in the one city mentioned of about 3,900 lives yearly. These results are due in part to the great advance in medical and surgical science and appliances; in part to improved plumbing, draining, paving and other hygienic inventions. If we allow a fatal termination to 1 in every 30 attacks sufficiently serious to call in the aid of a physician, it would appear that 90,000 New Yorkers annually are exempted from sicknesses to which they would have been exposed a quarter of a century ago. Without mentioning the avoidance of bodily discomfort, this exemption probably represents a clear cash saving of $3,000,000 annually. For all France the mortality in 1771 was 34; by the year 1801 it had dropped to 28; in 1883 to 22. In Geneva, Switzerland, the decrease was from 40 in the sixteenth century to 29 in the year 1800 Statistics show the average life in Great Britain nine years longer than it was fifty years ago. In Italy the annual mortality has decreased from 30 in 1860 to 25 in 1891.

"Compared with the squalor of savage life the average life conditions in a civilized community are sufficiently conspicuous; but even in comparison with society not so far removed from modern civilization the advantage is greatly with the present. The gradual lengthening of the average duration of human life with advancing civilization has been accompanied by steadily improving the conditions, and is, in fact, a natural consequence of them. This important drift of events is well illustrated in the United States, so recently the haunt of wandering savages in the stone age, and in modern Europe, which three centuries back was for the most part in that pastoral stage of culture which in the march of civilization has customarily intervened between the feral and the agricultural. Even no further back than last century the food supply, shelter and means of transit were little in advance of those of the Levantine civilizations of 5,000 years ago."

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The Buenos Ayres and Pacific Railway company, which of all the guaranteed railways in the Argentine Republic has, perhaps, suffered the most from the nonpayment in gold of the Government guarantee on account of the complications between its various debenture stockholders, the Buenos Ayres and Pacific, have now submitted a scheme for the settlement of the arrears of interest and the floating debt. They propose to issue half a million second debenture stock, bearing interest at 5 per cent., and out of this to pay the three coupons on the 7 and 5 per cent. debenture stocks falling due up to 15th April and 15th July, 1892, respectively. By this means the various amounts actually received or receivable from the Government and from the traffic will be available to pay off the floating debt, and find the necessary working capital to carry on the company. The only question is whether the relief will be sufficient, and whether the company will be able to resume cash payments next October on the 7 per cent. stock, and to find the interest falling due on the second debenture stock on 1st July next. We can't help feeling that their ability to do so is exceedingly doubtful, and that it would have been wiser, while about it, to have funded the interest for a year or six months longer.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was a rather so-so kind of day: nothing authentic in politics or about the Conspiracy 'sumario', or fashionable marriages or deaths, or anything else. There were, however, some extremely queer political rumours in the air, so queer that most of our colleagues refused even to let them in at one ear and out at the other.

The following telegrams are detained at the River Plate Telegraph Office, 287 San Martin:—

From Paris for Toscar
" Jerez for Sorrellero
" Paris for R. M., poste restante
" New York for Milshop.

Our "repartidor" who lost a lot of receipts some time ago has found them, and our subscribers can now pay him "con toda confianza."

We feel much pleasure in welcoming back Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mulhall and family, who arrived yesterday in the Mercurio, after a four months' sojourn at San Blas. Also Mr. and Mrs. Mackill, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, and Messrs. Thomas and Alexander Kincaid.

We are enabled to state that Mr. Fennessy has taken passage per s.s. Hevelius, sailing on the 30th inst., for a short trip to England, with the intention of returning in a few months. In the meantime Mrs Fennessy remains here.

We are happy to find by the following kind note that the writer had no intention of leaving the Fourth Estate out in the cold of winter unclothed, while providing luxurious raiment for Consuls, bank and railway managers, "et hoc genus omne:"—

"Dear STANDARD,

"Evidently your compositor hadn't got over the Easter Holidays yesterday.

"Fancy his making "Consuls, Bank Managers, Railway Managers etc. etc." out of my "Consuls, Bank Managers, Railway Managers, Editors etc."

"No, ingratitude thy name may be Brown, but not

"Jaybrownthetailortermscash."

We have to thank Messrs. C. English and Co., the well-known general agents, for a nice Easter Gift, for our Museum: "id est" a blue bottle of Usher's Glenlivet Whisky, supposed on good authority to have been made before Noah was born, but the pedigree of which is undoubtedly traced from his latter days. We have the pedigree Mrs. Noah was a Miss Usher, and her father started the business.

Dr. Hugo Marcus performed a most successful operation for hernia the other day on Mr. Frederick Crowther, who, we are glad to say, is now convalescent.

In reference to the "Disunited Charities" at Montevideo, the Times of that city says: "Subscribers to the "Night Shelter" are reminded of the meeting to be held at the British Consulate on Monday afternoon to decide on the knotty question whether or not the funds are to be handed over to the United Charities, a question on which there seems to be some diversity of opinion. The position between these two Charities is a peculiar one. The new one says "Give us your money and we will see what we can do with it." The old one says "Let us know what you are going to do with the money, and then we may give it to you." Unless one side or the other makes a concession, matters may thus reach a dead lock. It is customary in most parts of the world, for Charitable Associations to publish a definite programme before applying for subscriptions, and not to apply for subscriptions with the intention of forming the programme afterwards."

The same esteemed contemporary says that the Montevidean ladies were very earnest in their devotions on Holy Thursday and Good Friday, and looked bewitching in their costly black dresses, diamonds and other feminine war paint; and that they seemed perfectly aware of the fact.

There is a riddle in English in the studio of a hair-dresser in Calle Florida, opposite that head-quarters of Masherdom, the Aguila. Here it is: "Our articles are guaranteed legal—you must buy to think." Perhaps it would be better to think before buying.

The Montevideans thrashed their hereditary foes from this city in the cricket field, at Blanqueada, on Thursday and Friday last by 221 runs to 195. The scores were, M.V.C.C., first innings 86, second 135; A.A.C.C., first innings 71, second innings 124. The Buenos Ayreans showed the best batting on the second day, when Dillon, Boyd and Gifford made a gallant stand at the opening of the innings, making 42, 24, and 23 respectively. Anderson and Walshe gave some good bowling. There was a considerable number of visitors both days, the match exciting intense interest, especially towards the close. At conclusion both victors and vanquished were warmly cheered. The annual dinner, at which the Buenos Ayres team were guests, took place on Thursday evening, Mr. E. Satow, H. M. Minister, presiding.

The two Orsini bombs found in distant Salta in connection with the recent patriotic unpleasantness arrived in town yesterday. The honourable members of Congress will have the pleasure of examining them. Such articles are best inspected with a good telescope, at a distance of two or three miles; at least, we always make a point to examine bombs in this safe way.

The sitting of the City Fathers on Monday was appallingly dull, except in what related to Dr. Davison's project for improving the sanitary administration of the city, which was sanctioned with some slight alterations. Dr. D's plan is based on the English system and, if faithfully carried out, cannot fail to be of immense benefit to the health of the population.

The whistling of the locomotives on all the railways is as bad or worse than ever. On the Western it murders sleep for all living within ten squares of the line. Some of the locomotives give a deafening and dismal groan that reminds the wretched hearers of the gates of Pandemonium creaking on their hinges; others give an 'alto soprano' shriek that goes through every tortured nerve. The Lord Mayor kindly took up this question some weeks ago, but appears to be sleeping on it, while the numerous victims of the locomotives cannot get even a wink from 'Nature's soft nurse,' night or day.

The Post Master General issued yesterday an ordinance in reference to Government intervention and inspection of private telegraph and telephone companies, establishing a system of inspection of their messages, the expediency and practicability of which we take leave to doubt.

"Little Frances Taft is the daughter of an American missionary, Rev. Marcus L. Taft, in Pekin. Her father has a seminary there called the Imperial Thug-Wen College, and the Emperor of China is learning English from one of little Frances's illustrated primers. This is not a fairy tale, but an earnest narrative received by Dr. Taft's friends from Pekin." N. Y. World.

Dr. Burmeister was neither better nor worse yesterday, but still in a very precarious state. His recent petition for full retiring pension has been granted, and Dr. Berg, Director of the Museum at Montevideo, is appointed as his successor.

The Mayor of Monte has recently distinguished himself by an act of violence for which his Worship may have to pay. He has by force broken down the fences and opened a road through Mr. Christopher Seery's property, without any of the usual formalities of expropriation in such cases. Mr. Seery intends to let loose the dogs of law on the impetuous Mayor.

"The late Henry Doyle, Director-General of the National Gallery of Ireland, was one of those rare connoisseurs who know a good painting when they see it, regardless of the name before the "pinxit." One of his achievements was the purchase for a trifling sum at the Cavendish-Bentinck sale of a very fine picture which he had discovered to be the work of a great Italian artist, but which all the other buyers had ignored because it was described in the catalogue under a false name. Another clever purchase was a superb Rembrandt which he picked up cheaply in Brussels."

The neighbourhood of the Retiro was put in a flutter on Monday through the finding of the corpse of a man, with the clothes intact, buried, where they were digging the foundations of a house. After the usual fright, fuss and fume, the medical men declared it a case of natural death, and the probability that the relatives were too poor to afford a funeral, and had resorted to this way of avoiding the expense.

Mr. Jacob Peuser, the eminent publisher, has received a magnificent present from his employees and workmen on the occasion of his Silver Wedding to the business that has proved such a great success under his able direction. The gift is a beautiful medallion of gold, silver and bronze, chiselled by the well-known firm of Gotuzzo and Terrarosa: it bears a short, suitable inscription. Ramon Perez, the doyen of the workmen of the establishment, presented it to Mr. Peuser with an eloquent speech. Mr. Peuser thanked his men warmly and invited them to a 'fiesta' at his house, when his manager returns from Europe. The agent of the house there also sent Mr. Peuser a nice 'aquarello' of its establishments here, in Rosario and La Plata, to mark the auspicious occasion.

The Rev. Dr. Smith A.M. will preach on Sunday, May 1st., at 4 p.m. at Campana.

We are sorry to see an opinion expressed in Montevideo to the effect that "the Entertainment Society's success in the coming season is problematical." This is sad. What would become of us here if the crisis were able to play the same havoc with our flourishing E. L. S. and its jolly entertainments?

His Holiness the Pope has sent the Cross of St. Gregory to Governor Fontana of Chubut, as a mark of appreciation of the protection extended to Catholic missionaries in that National Territory. The Order of St. Gregory is a military one, and this is only the third cross conferred by His Holiness in South America.

There'll be a strong reinforcement of the regiments of the Line at the end of this month if young Argentines who have reached 18 years of age do not enroll themselves in the National Guard before the 30th inst. Up to the present there has been very little enrolment anywhere. How is this?

The Nord America took over 1000 passengers to Genoa on Monday. Some 800 of them were third-classers, mostly harvest hands returning to catch the harvest at home and return here in December.

A sad and curious coincidence is reported from Montevideo. Mr. Julio de Mendeville died there on Monday; and on the same day a telegram arrived from Paris announcing the death of his wife there.

Ball players and their patrons are in tears. The President of the Republic has ordered the Fronton Buenos Ayres to be closed, in consequence of the furious betting that went on there.

On the way up from the Falklands the Cleopatra called at Chubut and there had the misfortune to lose one of her officers, the navigating lieutenant Mr. W. White. Three of the officers, including Mr. White, were walking from the coast into the interior, and the sun being very powerful Mr. White unfortunately received a sunstroke from which he died. He was buried with the usual honours in the Chubut Colony, a cross being placed over his grave.

Gentlemen, I'm a ninety years old. In the course of nature I must soon depart, of late it has often seemed to me I could hear my mother's voice speaking as when I was a boy and saying "Come Peter, it is almost bed-time!"
At a dinner given in his honour a few weeks before his death, Peter Cooper, the great American Philanthropist, used the above touching words:
"There can be no doubt that bodily comfort contributes greatly to longevity and Peter Cooper, undoubtedly would not have reached ninety years if he had not enjoyed the perfect rest obtained only by wearing a PYJAMA SUIT.

Dear Sirs—
"I have tried HAYWARD'S "PASTE" DIP on my Sheep, and have pleasure in bearing testimony to ITS EFFICACY AS A DIP. I need have no hesitation in recommending it generally as a Cure for Scab, without discolouring or damaging the Wool.
The "PASTE" is in my opinion preferable to the Powder, and will probably have a larger sale than the latter."
Yours very truly
(Signed)
JOHN KELLIE.

It has been proved by many important Estancieros that HAYWARD'S PASTE is more convenient to use than any other Dip, being already mixed and dissolving in any kind of water. It makes a smooth soapy bath which adheres well to the Fleece and leaves the wool clean and soft.

ON 'CHANGE.

Monday, April 18.

Affairs on 'Change to-day were dull. The succession of holidays and lengthy interruption of business threatened to continue this morning, for members were not in a frame of mind to settle down to desks. A slight flutter was caused by the report that the wool news from Europe was not favourable; speculative ripples followed in the gold market, but the situation was dull and comatose throughout.

Fifteen thousand ounces changed hands at the first ring; the market opened very weak at 55.70; when the news spread that European telegrams were not favourable, the price rose rapidly to $56, closing hard at 55.90, say 243¾ % premium. Fourteen hundred sovereigns were sold at 17.25 to 17.34, say 244 o|o premium. The market closed with gold in demand at the closing rates, and few sellers.

Patriotic Bonds fainted this morning owing to the unsatisfactory results of the subscription to the capital of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina. There is no remote possibility of the public subscribing the first series of ten millions, not even if the London shareholders of the National Bank come to the rescue. The Government may now be convinced that the Banco de la Nacion Argentina is distasteful to the public; the failure of the subscription does not arise from scarcity of money, as some are inclined to think, for there are scores of capitalists in this city and province who could fill the whole capital of the new bank in a very short time. Intimately connected as Patriotic Bonds are with the law that created the Banco de la Nacion, it is not to be wondered if the stock droops, notwithstanding the advantages accorded to the holders of these bonds, especially in the subscription to the new bank's capital. The price this morning opened at 57.80 and fell to 57.40, closing at 57.60.

National Cedulas are improving daily; Series C was done at 85, and Series E advanced to 87. La Plata Cedulas were also very firm; the closing rates were 29 for F, 29.80 A, 30 J, 29.40 K, 29.60 L and N, 29¼ O and P.

Exchange was quiet, little or nothing doing. Discounts were difficult.

Both wool and wheat markets ruled dull this morning. It was rumored that telegrams received this morning from Antwerp and the North of France announce a less favorable turn in wool and wheat. Consignees state that the bulk of the wool clip has been sold on contract.

Mr. Risso Patron sold yesterday at auction:—

Two lots Calle Gallo between Santa Fe and Charcas 12 x 66 for 6.80 and 6.90 per square yard.

Seven lots Calle Mejico entre sin nombre y otra for 1, 1.10, and 1.15 and 1.44 per sq. yard.

Seven lots calle sin nombre between Mejio and another for 1, 1.05, 1.10 and 1.15 per sq. yard.

Ten lots Calle 79 A between sin nombre and another for 1, 1.05, 1.10 and 1.15 per sq. yard.

Boulevard La Plata Nos. 149 and 151, 20 x 25 with four rooms for 5,900 dollars.

The passenger traffic on the the Great Southern Railway during the holidays was very heavy. The crush on Wednesday night at the Plaza Constitucion was unprecedented, but the trains moved out punctually. The Bahia Blanca train which left at 9 p.m. was one of the longest on record. A large party left for Curamalan, another for La Tigra, Las Flores, Azul, etc; all Buenos Ayres seemed to be travelling South. The attendance in the trains was excellent and the sleeping-cars were in perfect order and in sufficient numbers to accommodate all. The return train from Bahia Blanca which arrived at Constitucion this morning brought all the pleasure-seekers back with several waggon loads of ducks and snipe. The travellers also brought the great news that petroleum springs had been discovered at Curamalan: years ago somebody discovered diamonds in the place.

Cheques of the Provincial Bank were done to-day at 51½% discount; those of the National Bank were quoted at 30% discount. Bonds of the La Plata Mortgage Bank were at 11¼.

The new 'vales' or 'certificados' or paper money of the Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres are being distributed here and in La Plata and to some branches. In another week probably these vales will be quoted on 'Change en lieu of the present 'conformes'. We agree with several of our colleagues that the Camara Sindical should give this paper a quotation on the black-board.

There is some more inquiry for cheques or "conformes" of the English Bank of the River Plate. These cheques have been quite nominal for some time past; the bank's depositors refuse to sell, as they have great hopes of the new scheme started in London to put the business on its legs again.

The wool news of the morning was confirmed this afternoon, but not so advices about wheat. It appears that no messages have been received about wheat; the news about maize is that the European market is stationary.

Dr. Manuel Blancas has sent a note to the Government accepting his appointment on the Board of the City Improvement Works

The gold market ruled very firm at the second ring; eleven thousand ounces were sold for to-morrow; the price opened at 55.90$ and closed at 56, say 244% premium. Nine hundred sovereigns were sold at 17.35 to 17.37$, closing at 17.35, say 244¼ % premium. The market closed hard. Stocks and shares were dull.

profit of 33,500$ last year, but such is its condition that the Board has been empowered to receive from debtors the Bank's shares at par in payment of all outstandings previous to 1891. This is not a flourishing state of affairs.

The steamer Gulf of Guinea will leave La Plata dock to-morrow with passengers and seven hundred live sheep; she goes direct to Liverpool.

The Houston steamer Hesperides has arrived at Montevideo with 2,000 tons of cargo.

Exchange was quoted this afternoon at 48⅛d. on London and 5.06¼ to 5.07½ fcs. on Paris. Very little business doing.

The gold market ruled weak at the second ring; eleven thousand ounces were sold for to-morrow; the market opened at $56, closing at $55.70, say 242½% premium. Two hundred sovereigns were sold at $17.34. Cedulas remained steady.

"The failure of Messrs. J. E. Gunzberg, of St. Petersburg and Paris, caused some depression in the Foreign market, and this, coupled with the further rise in the Spanish and Italian exchanges on London, led to a fall in prices. Adverse rumours as to what will be forthcoming at the next distribution in respect of the Portuguese debt, and some talk in the market of a possible funding of coupons for three years, led to a decline in Portuguese bonds on Thursday to 27⅞. In the South American department a leading feature was the inquiry for Uruguay bonds on an expected satisfactory announcement at the Bank of England meeting; the price was put up to slightly over 41, but after the meeting there was a reaction to below 40, and the final quotation of 40 is approximately 1 below the best and a rise of 1 for the day. Argentine issues were also firm, funded touching 58⅜ and closing at 58, while the 1886 bonds are ½ higher for the day at 65½. Some of the little dealt-in Argentine securities show rather more vitality. Another improvement of 2 is shown in Buenos Ayres provincial bonds. Cedula descriptions are without material alteration, the gold premium being advised at 2 higher, at 246 per cent. Brazilian bonds are dull and ½ to ¾ down. Chilian are unaltered. There was a small improvement early in the day in Peruvian Corporation issues, but it was lost, the principal movements having been in the Preference, which finally left off at a slight decline. Except for the changes mentioned, there has been no feature of interest in either South or Central American issues. Argentine Funded have relapsed ½, while Buenos Ayres Cedulas bonds are ½ higher."

"Light is beginning to dawn on the Murrieta mystery. Yesterday the Trustees', Executors' and Securities Insurance Corporation (trustees of the Murrieta debentures), acting in concert with the Debenture Corporation, which holds £150,000 of these debentures, applied for and secured the appointment of two receivers and managers of the business of C. de Murrieta and Company, Limited. In the brief proceedings before Mr. Justice Chitty very little came out, but abundant food for reflection is supplied by a circular, signed by Mr. Jose de Murrieta, sent to the creditors of the firm yesterday afternoon. From that document it would appear that only now an independent audit of the books of the Murrietas has been made on behalf of the debenture-holders, and the immediate result has been the appointment of a receiver. The debentures were thus seemingly issued without the precaution of a special audit, and the presumption is that so soon as the actual position was made clear, the trustees for the issue became dissatisfied with the security and required that the administration of the estate should come into their own hands. The step and its concomitants will not make the fashion of buttressing up shaky houses any more popular in the City, seeing how much mystery and mischief might have been avoided had the audit, 'under the direction of the trustees for the debenture-holders,' been made a year ago.

"Meantime we may look for some curious complications. The conversion scheme on which so much labour and midnight oil were expended a month ago, disclosed the fact that there were secured creditors of the Murrieta Company to the amount of nearly three millions sterling—apart from the debenture-holders—whose claims had to be provided for. Secured creditors for £1,800 000 declined to come into the South American and Mexican Company's scheme as 'B' debenture-holders; but creditors for a million were expected to agree. The first of these two batches of creditors was evidently unprepared to take second place to the Murrieta debenture-holders, and they may now have a good deal to say as to the management of the business by receivers appointed solely on behalf of the debenture holders. The directors of C. de Murrieta and Co. are apparently with these creditors, to judge by the tone of the circular, and from the fact that liquidators have been appointed to act with the receivers."

LA MAGNOLIA
INJURIOUS TEA DRINKING.
In the "Daily Post" of September 2 appears a leading article—evidently from an analytical expert—showing that after 15 minutes "draw," Indian Tea yields 17·73 of tannin, while from China comes only 7·93. What this means few know, but those troubled with indigestion may realise in part by use of True China Tea for one week.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne—Dr J Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff) Discovered a Remedy, to denote which he coined the word «Chlorodyne» Dr Browne is the Sole Inventor, and as the composition of Chlorodyne cannot possibly be discovered by Analysis (organic substances defying elimination) and since the formula has never been published, it is evident that any statement to the effect that a compound is identical with Dr Browne's Chloredyne must be false

GENERAL BOARD of HEALTH, London, REPORT that it ACTS as a CHARM, one does generally suffi ie t.
Dr. GIBBON. Army Medical Staff, Calcutra, states: 'Two Doses Completely Cured Me Of Diarrhœa.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a liquid medicine which assuages PAIN of every KIND, affords a calm refreshing sleep, WITHOUT HEADACHF, and invigorates the nervous system when exhausted
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne rapidly cuts short all attacks of EPILEPSY, SPASMS, COLIC, PALPITATION, HYSTERIA
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Clorodyne rapidly cuts short all attacks of EPILEPSY, SPASMS, COLIC, PALPITATION, HYSTERIA

Dr. J Collis Browne's Chlorodyne—Vice Chancellor Sir W PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. BROWNE was undoubtedly the INVENTOR of CHLORODYNE, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to—See «The Times,» July 13, 1864
